The History of Creedmoor Maha WSC

BORN OF NEED—SUSTAINED BY RESOLVE

FIRST CMWSC OFFICE BUILDING—BUILT 1982

This is the story of the water they fought for, built not by chance, but by determination. Built by grit, carried by water, Creedmoor-Maha Water Supply Corporation holds legacy in every drop, rising from dust to flowing futures. It became the company that would not be bought, shaped by those born of need, sustained by their resolve. Through every challenge, its people stood firm where water meets will, enduring as Guardians Of the Flow, held together by water and hope, and driven always by the spirit beneath the surface.

In April 1965, the Creedmoor-Maha Water Supply Corporation was formed with Preston Laws as President. A USDA loan was secured in 1966, and water lines began to be installed.

Creedmoor Maha WSC initially began providing water it purchased from Austin Water. It built a 50,000-gallon storage tank on Hwy 183 and a 100,000-gallon water tower on FM 1625. At that time Creedmoor-Maha had just 350 customers.

In 1976 Creedmoor-Maha purchased one-acre of land west of Onion and Bear creeks for the purpose of drilling a well. An FHA loan provided money for the well and water lines. The well was drilled, and six miles of main line was installed to get the water to Creedmoor Maha WSC. Creedmoor Maha WSC customer base then increased to over 1,200.

THE HISTORY OF CMWSC

In June 1983, board member Ben Gray began building the first official building for Creedmoor-Maha WSC, which was located at the corner of Laws and Evelyn roads. Before that, the board of directors held their board meetings in the old Creedmoor school house. After the school was closed by Del Valle ISD, meetings were temporarily moved to Graef's store on US 183 South, used exclusively for board meetings. During that time, daily business operations were run out of the Creedmoor Post Office and the home of Charles Laws, which served as the corporations' acting offices. On June 1, 1985, CMWSC staff officially began working in the newly completed office, marking a significant milestone in the company's growth and stability.

In 1985 Creedmoor-Maha WSC purchased land close to the original well and installed two more wells. It also constructed a 35,000-gallon water tower at the corner of Laws and Evelyn roads. Shortly after, more land was purchased, and a 500,000-gallon storage tank was built on Old Lockhart Road, known as the Alexander storage tank.

In 1997, Creedmoor-Maha WSC started purchasing more water from Aqua WSC located in Bastrop. A small pump site was built on Hwy 21 and Caldwell Lane. Water lines were installed from the site down Hwy 21 to Creedmoor-Maha WSC.

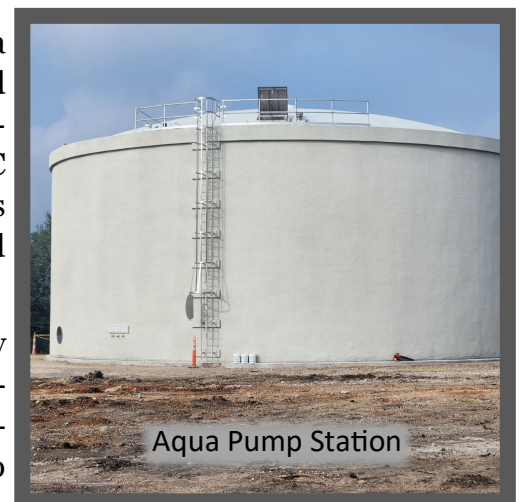

In 2011 a 1,000,000-gallon water tower was built on Old Lockhart Road next to the existing 500,000-gallon tank. This ensured Creedmoor-Maha WSC had the required amount of water storage to serve their expanding customer base.

In 2021, Creedmoor Maha WSC staff moved into their new headquarters at 13709 Schriber Rd., Buda, TX, 78610 located within the Mustang Ridge ETJ. A Grand Opening Ceremony was held on March 24, 2022, welcoming local leaders from the cities of Creedmoor and Mustang Ridge, as well as state leaders officials. Special guest Senator Judith Zaffirini was among those who attended to commemorate this important milestone in the corporation's history.

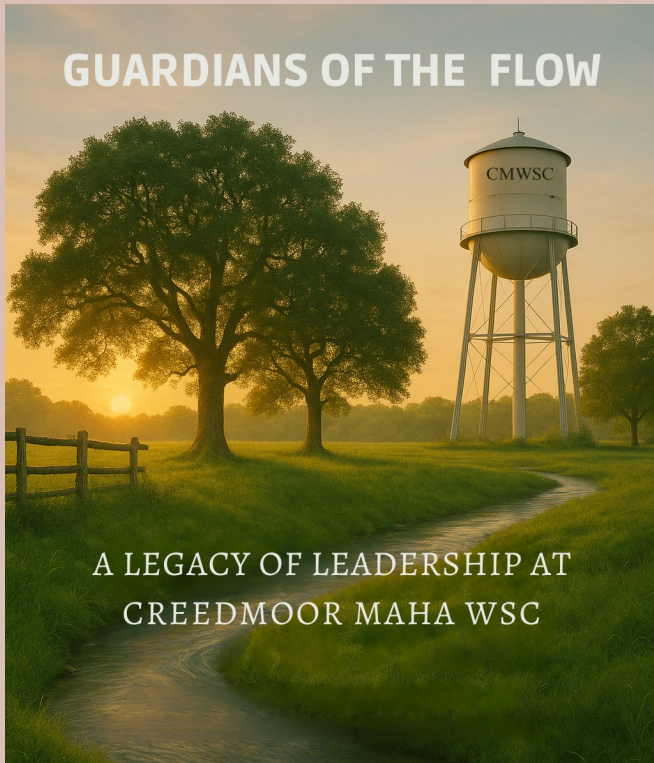

In 2024 Creedmoor Maha WSC built a 1,000,000-gallon storage tank across from the original pump site on Hwy 21. This allows Creedmoor to significantly increase the amount of water purchased from Aqua WSC and supply the rapidly increasing population of the region. Currently Creedmoor Maha WSC serves 3,700 customers and is projected to grow to 6,000 by 2030.

At the September 24, 2025 board meeting, the Creedmoor Maha WSC Board of Directors approve an agreement with BGICO to build a Desalination Plant to provide more potable water to the Creedmoor Maha WSC CCN. Because of this vital collaboration, CMWSC will be able to provide water for the expansive development in this area. The desalination plant is expected to be in production around 2027.

Creedmoor Maha Water Supply Corporation stands strong today thanks to the vision, dedication, and hard work of all who have contributed, including founders, board members, staff, and our members. As we look to future growth and new water sources, we do so with deep appreciate for the legacy that brought us all here.

GUARDIANS OF THE FLOW

A LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP AT CREEDMOOR MAHA WSC

On November 24, 1965, the Articles of Incorporation for Creedmoor-Maha Water Supply Corporation (CMWSC) were signed by four visionary leaders: Preston Laws and Wilburn Burklund of Austin, TX, and Oscar Holtz and Floyd Self of Buda, TX. These founding pioneers formed the original Board of Directors. Just days later, on November 29, 1965, the incorporation was officially recognized by the Office of the Texas Secretary of State.

Preston Laws went on to serve as CMWSC's first General Manager, guiding the utility for nearly two decades. His leadership laid the foundation for a small rural water system that began with just 150 applications and has since grown to serve thousands. Following in his footsteps, his brother, Charles Laws led the corporation for another 30 years, further cementing the organization's stability and growth.

Throughout its history, CMWSC has been guided by dedicated community leaders, names like W.P. Stromberg, H.W. Kyser, Larry Laws, Alton Laws, Bill Brashears, Wesley Burklund, Earl Burklund, and Ben Gray, among many others. Their collective vision ensured the continued development of a sustainable and member-focused utility.

Over the years, long-serving directors such as Darrell Walenta (27 years), Bobby Burklund (23 years), Don Dailey (19 years), and Bennie Bock (14 years), upheld CMWSC's mission through periods of both challenge and growth. A new chapter in the corporation's governance began on October 14, 2018, when Rebecca Richards made CMWSC history as the first woman appointed to the Board. She was followed by Yvonne Gil-

Vallejo (January 2020), and Anna Ortiz (January 2023), each bringing fresh perspective and leadership.

In more recent years, John Steib served as General Manager from 2019—2021, then Matthew Pickle stepped into the role after having served as the CMWSC Operations Manager since 2019. Today, Matthew ("Matt") leads CMWSC with the same steadfast dedication and forward-thinking spirit that has defined the organization for nearly 60 years.

Because of their commitment, families have been able to grow roots, farms and ranches have flourished, and entire communities have been sustained. Their decisions have protected the source, expanded their service, and kept water flowing through times of growth, drought, and change.

The impact of their work touches every past, present, and future member of our water system. They are the quiet stewards of our infrastructure, the advocates for reliability, and the visionaries ensuring our water remains clean, accessible, and resilient for generations to come.

Please join us in recognizing and honoring all past and present board members. Their wisdom, integrity, and service safeguarded our water resources, weathered the storms of time, and helped our community thrive.

Meet Your Board of Directors

EXECUTIVE BOARD

President John Gray President John Gray is a long-time resident of Creedmoor and an active member of the City Council, where he has worked to support the city's growth and progress. From 1975 to 1980, he worked as an ironworker on the Houston Ship Channel and often assisted his father, Ben Gray, by climbing water towers to repair lights and warning signals—early experiences that connected him to the community's infrastructure. In addition to his civic service, John is the owner of J&K Utility Services, playing a vital role in local business development. His commitment to community welfare led to his appointment to the Creedmoor Maha Water Supply Corporation Board of Directors on January 18, 2023, where he continues to contribute his leadership and deep ties to the area.

Vice-President Yvonne Gil-Vallejo Vice-President Yvonne Gil-Vallejo has lived in the Creedmoor area for nearly 30 years and was appointed to the Board of Directors on May 15, 2019, by Bennie Bock. She is currently a Project Manager for the City of Kyle Engineering Department, where she leads the wastewater treatment plant expansion project. Previously, Yvonne served 29 years as a Project Manager with Austin Water, building a strong track record in utility management. Her extensive experience and dedication make her an invaluable asset in guiding the future of water supply and management for the Creedmoor Maha Water Supply Corporation.

Secretary/Treasurer Rebecca Richards, has been an instrumental and dedicated director for the Creedmoor Maha Water Supply Corporation since her appointment to the Board of Directors on October 17, 2018. With an impressive professional background marked by her management of diverse business operations, Rebecca showcases exceptional skills in effective resource utilization, conflict resolution, communication, collaboration, and innovative management approaches. Her unwavering commitment to excellence and her dynamic problem-solving abilities make her an invaluable asset to the CMWSC board.

Ben has carried his military discipline and strong work ethic into the construction industry, where he is also an accomplished welder, fabricator, and inventor. Known for his "outside-the-box" thinking, his innovative approach has helped BCS push beyond industry standards in both tactics and technology.

Tim Dorsett

Blake, Dennis, and Skip Dorsett

Dorsett Ditching, for over fifty years, was a pillar of Central Texas utility work, with roots stretching back to the days when Tim Dorsett owned and operated Dorsett Ditching, Inc. with his brothers. Known for laying water lines and repairing countless leaks and main breaks, including during winter snowstorms, the company supported Creedmoor Maha WSC and many other utilities across Travis, Caldwell, and surrounding counties and surrounding counties. Tim's son, Dennis Dorsett purchased the company around 1999, taking the helm as Dennis Dorsett Ditching into a trusted name for projects of every size. Upon his retirement in 2024, the next generation carried the legacy forward: Dennis's son, Skip Dorsett launched Bird Dog Leak Detection with his wife, Caley, and their water-leak trained canine partner, Deege. Blake Dorsett founded Hydrant Rescue to continue providing the essential ditching and utility services of the original business.
